CONDITIONS

The bursary covers half of the regular cost of tuition for one of the Micro-certificates in Sustainability for a total of $600.00. The bursary must be used in the 2024 spring term and may not be cashed out to pay for other expenses or transferred to other programs and courses at Concordia University. Should the recipient not complete their study program for the duration of the three sessions, the bursary will be forfeited. Bursaries are based primarily on financial need and application statements. You must apply to be considered for available bursaries. Submission of an application does not guarantee a bursary offer. The bursary will automatically apply towards any tuition fees owed. If a recipient has already paid their tuition fees at the time a bursary is awarded, they can leave the credit on their account, or they may request a refund by contacting jmec@concordia.ca.

All contracts are subject to revision for adjustment of errors. The University reserves the right to cancel any course, workshop or program due to insufficient registration. I agree that I will be bound by and undertake to observe the rules, regulations and policies in place at Concordia University, including those policies contained in the Academic Calendar and those printed on this Application Contract.

Please submit your completed application form to jmec@concordia.ca.
